About the University

Central University of Rajasthan (CURAJ) was established by an Act of Parliament as a Central University in 2009. CURAJ is committed to endure quality in all the dimensions of higher education viz. teaching, learning, research, extension and governance adhering to the regional and global needs. The University is one of India's leading universities accredited with 'A' grade by NAAC and 34 NIRF rank of 2016.

About the Department

The Department of Linguistics, started in the academic session 2019-20 in CURAJ under the School of Humanities and Languages offers a 5 yr Integrated M. Sc Programme in Linguistics and Language Sciences. The programme is designed to combine linguistics, the scientific study of language with practical observation and analysis, developing an understanding that enables interpretation of linguistic phenomenon. It delves into details that the human brain subconsciously pays attention to, at the same time, developing an understanding of the underlying pattern in a set of language data. The scope of Language Sciences includes the study of the formal structure of language, processing and acquisition at different levels such as phonology, morphology, syntax, semantics, pragmatics and discourse. In recent years, there have been notable theoretical and methodological developments in this field accompanied by technical advances. This have led to sophisticated methodological approaches, cognitive and psycho-linguistic studies, computational linguistics, corpus and quantitative linguistic studies and many more. Linguistics is interdisciplinary and the department is envisioned to promote understanding of linguistics and language sciences.

About the Workshop

The workshop aims to promote understanding of linguistics and language sciences by Linguists to present works focusing on innovative and fundamental developments in linguistics and related disciplines. It would attempt to venture linguistics and language sciences beyond the classroom, its expansion and application in the real-world language related phenomena. It would provide an interdisciplinary platform for researchers, practitioners and educators to discuss the most recent innovations, trends and concerns as well as practical challenges encountered and solutions adopted in the fields of linguistics and language sciences. Topics of discussions would high-point from introductory notes to research frontiers on aspects of linguistics and language sciences and includes-

- formal structure of language
- importance of indigenous languages and the knowledge contained in them
- language endangerment, preservation and documentation
- comparative and typological studies
- cognitive and psycholinguistic studies
- corpus and quantitative linguistic studies
- computational linguistics
